PROPOSED ANTI-DISCRIMINATION REGULATIONS

The Department of Health, Education and Welfare has proposed regulations to protect physically and mentally handicapped individuals from discrimination in all schools, colleges and health and social service agencies that receive financial assistance from HEW. The requirements cover the services offered by these organizations as well as their employment practices.

Key provisions of the proposed regulations are:

*Schools and colleges should make their programs accessible to handicapped students.

*All new construction should be free of physical barriers.

*Health, welfare and other social services should be provided in a non-discriminatory manner. As an example, a social service agency which normally deals with clients on a telephone would have to adopt procedures to communicate with deaf people.

*Employers must not refuse to hire qualified persons because they are handicapped.

The Office for Civil Rights is inviting the public to comment on these proposed regulations during the next 30 days. Comments should be submitted to Director, Office for Civil Rights, HEW, P.O. Box 1909, Washington, D.C. 20013.
